PROFILE

As a self-shooting director, DOP, producer, and editor, I specialize in work that requires a tech savvy all-rounder who thinks 'story', works fast and most importantly, brings style and vision to the projects I take on. I am experienced at managing teams or working as a one-person crew, coping with inhospitable locations, handling any multitude of cameras and meeting tight turnarounds.

RECENT BROADCAST CREDITS

HIGHWAY COPS-TVNZ

Shooting PD October 2020- Present

For this the 7th season, I have travelled further and worked in areas not previously covered in previous seasons. Working alongside a selection of Highway Patrol Officers, the goal as always, is to showcase the work done by the Police who work in some of the most remote parts of New Zealand...and meet the characters who travel through these areas.

DEMOLITION NEW ZEALAND-PRIME TV-SKY

Shooting PD October 2019- August 2020

Armed with PPE gear, I was let loose on three construction sites to showcase the work being done by Demolition experts. Working alone and with multiple cameras, this is the ultimate fly-by-the seat of your pants shoot. No scripts, gnarly characters and mountains of debris, it was hardcore.

GOLD RUSH-DISCOVERY US

Shooting PD May 2019- August 2019

When an opportunity came up to visit the Yukon to work on the 10th season of Gold Rush, I made sure my work schedule could accommodate. It was an amazing experience to be based in a fascinating and beautiful part of the world and work with the experienced U.K. and Canadian crew who keep this production rolling.

AUSTRALIA'S GOT TALENT-CHANNEL 7

Shooting PD April 2019 - May 2019

Without a wealth of experience working on formatted studio shows, I gave this a go to hone my skills in another environment. My role was filming the be-spoke overlay and reality scenes.

HIGHWAY COPS-TVNZ

Shooting PD December 2018 - April 2018

On the dusty back roads and rural highways of New Zealand's South Island, I have worked on every season of this high-rating show. It's an exciting, amusing and sometimes dangerous insight into the work done by New Zealand Police and most importantly, constantly tests my ability to produce riveting observational documentary content.

THE APARTMENT-DIVA

Senior Story Producer September 2018 - November 2018

Based in Johor Bahru (Malaysia) the show is touted as Asia's version of 'The Block', though in reality it is quite different. As the senior story producer, I assisted the show-runner by coordinating the story team, managing story arcs for the season, field directing and shooting the stylized B-Roll and integration content as required.

TOP ROADS CHINA- SHANGHAI MEDIA GROUP

Director-Camera July 2018 - August 2018

China has undergone unparalleled economic growth in the past 30 years. None more so, than in some of the amazing engineering achievements made to create sensational roads and bridges. My role was to research, script and direct two episodes of a six-part series dedicated to roads that both crossed water and headed skyward.

THE GREAT AUSTRALIAN BAKE-OFF / TAKE ME OUT-FOXTEL-CHANNEL 7

Shooting-Producer April 2018 - July 2018

Based out of Sydney, I travelled around Australia producing and shooting the back-stories for the fifth season of the Great Australian Bake-off and the very first Australian season of the global phenomenon, Take Me Out. This involved liaising with talent, locking in locations, scheduling shoots, writing scripts and fulfilling all aspects of image acquisition.

CHINA'S AMAZING SUPER PLANTS-DISCOVERY INTERNATIONAL

Director-D.O.P January 2017 - April 2017

Working with renowned British botanist, Dr. Mark Spencer, I directed and filmed a show about Spencer's quest to discover the secrets behind some of China's most remarkable plants in Yunnan province. One of the world's most fascinating biological hot-spots, we interacted with people from the Yi and Naxi ethnic groups as they shared their secrets for health and longevity through the traditional use of plants.

MYSTERIES OF THE MEKONG-SMITHSONIAN

Director-D.O.P April 2017 - May 2017

Along with my work on observational documentaries and reality television, I have also directed and shot 'Blue Chip' Natural History shows. For this job I travelled with my own kit to South East Asia, and spent a month shooting various animals, insects and scenery around the Mekong River in both Thailand and Vietnam.

FRONTIER BORNEO-DISCOVERY INTERNATIONAL

Shooting-Producer-Director June 2016 - November 2016

The opportunity to direct and film a show in Borneo for four months was an amazing experience. My role was to follow scientific experts and eco-warriors as they worked to protect the wildlife of Sabah and Sarawak. Often based for weeks at a time off the beaten track, this was a massive exercise in resourcefulness, patience and cunning.

ABALONE WARS-DISCOVERY INTERNATIONAL

Shooting-Producer-Director March 2016 -April 2016

The chance to hang out with the gnarly abalone divers from South Australia as they battled the dangerous water off the Great Australian Bight was pretty cool. Put together from a mixture of observational documentary and scripted story telling, I spent a month with these hardy characters as they battled the elements to collect the precious Abalone.

GIANT PANDA-BORN TO BE WILD-ANIMAL PLANET-FRANCE 5

Shooting-Producer-Director July 2015 -December 2015

In 2014, I made three trips to Sichuan province to produce and shoot a show about China's most revered animal. To say that this assignment was tricky is a massive understatement. Not only did I need to collect enough material to make a 6 part series, as well as a 2-Hour special, the Chinese are massively protective of The Panda and were very concerned that the story I was making wouldn't do justice to the work that they are putting into their breeding program. However, they were extremely happy with the final product, especially as the show featured a panda birth that had never been filmed at one of the breeding centers before.

THE SLUM-AL JAZEERA

Camera-Editor October 2014 - June 2015

Based in Manila for four months, this experience still rates as one of the highlights of my career. The goal was to shed light on some of the poorest people in South East Asia. The material was all shot from an observational perspective and the show was edited almost entirely in Tagalog, which was real challenge for the series producer and myself.

TOP TEN SHARKDOWN -DISCOVERY

Producer-Director--Editor January 2014 - September 2014

Commissioned for The Discovery Channel 'Shark Week', my task was to create a countdown show from archive footage. This involved researching shark behaviour, scouring archives, finding expert talent, writing the script, filming interviews, editing all the footage, keeping it under budget and making sure that it was a hit on Shark Week.

HIGH COUNTRY RESCUE -TVNZ

Producer-Director-Editor November 2012 - September 2013

The ultimate in observational documentary, I was imbedded with the Alpine Cliff Rescue team based in Wanaka, NZ. For six months I filmed all the rescue missions they undertook, and then I took the footage through to the edit to produce a brand new series. Still one of my career highlights.
